STAGE FRIGHT WAS THE TROUBLE WITH MARQUARD FIRST

Great Pitcher for New York Giants Is Only 22 and Has Just Begun to Find Himself This Season.

New York, Sept. 15.—Ruth Marquard was a failure for two seasons because he couldn't forget that the New York fans paid Indianapolis $11,000 for his release. He forgot in this season and is the biggest man in the great National league pennant race.

"I've got to look like a $11,000 pitcher," I used to say to myself," said Ruth. "I was wild and knew it, and thought poor control would make me a doof. I didn't cut the ball loose, but I used to get it over the plate, trusting to the fielders, but they didn't get balls that were being hit squarely in the middle."

"I've heard it said I didn't care how many games I lost, but I did. I spent many a sleepless night. My team-mates sympathized with me, which I didn't like, and so stop them. I assumed a happy-go-lucky way that I didn't feel. All the time I was trying to think of something that would make me a real pitcher."

"Withers Robinson, the old catcher, who coached us on the training trip this spring, discovered what was wrong with me. Don't try to be wild. He'd tell me, 'Just cut the ball loose, no matter if you hit the grandstand.'

"I did as Robbie advised, and just return to form is the result."

"There is no danger that I will get wild again. I'm a different man all over. I used to dread the day I was to pitch, while now I'd like to pitch every other day. I just seem to get at the best teams in the league."

"I'm going to be a star for five more years. I'm only 22, and I am stronger than ever before. I've taken on weight and strength since I quit nervousness."

SPORTING NOTES

"Scoups" Carey of the Pirates studied for the ministry, and would have been able to get a salary of $600 per annum if he had made good at the start! He may get that much each month, in two equal installments.

It begins to look as if Mike Donlin can have quite a successful winter in Indianapolis, for he is getting his batting eye back in great shape. He was a great hit as a helper on the Giants' bench; how he is a great help as an opponent of the New Yorkers. Frank Smith, former White Sox pitcher, who met with a severe accident while in the east recently with the Reds, is able to hobble around with a big cane for aid. He nearly cut one of his legs off by sticking it through a window pane, when he slipped in his room at his hotel.

Manager Stovall of the Naps has served notice that none of his men will be allowed to play on an all-star team this fall to give the American league champions practice in preparations for the world's series. The Naps are expecting to play a post-season series with the Reds, for the championship of Ohio.

Heine Berger, former pitcher of the Naps, but now a member of the Marion, O., team, fanned 17 of the Springfield batters Sunday, and the big league scouts begin to think they overlooked a good thing in the former big leaguer.

Old Cy Young is making a big hit as a member of the Beemster's staff if the veteran can win a couple of more games he will be the rage in the Hub for the rest of this season at least.

The Cub pitching staff will weigh more than the curve-pitching department of any other team in the National league, but that is not saying much about the quality.

McDraw has signed a new clown for the Giants funnier than Artie Latham ever was. He is Charlie Foust, a Kansas farmer, who insisted on following the Giants home from St. Louis after being turned down there. He practiced every day with the leaders, and the New York fans have more fun with him than they ever had watching Latham turn somersaults.

The Detroit scribes are taking great delight in roasting Connie Mack this season. The wise leader of the champions is not saying much in return, but he is doing a deal of thinking and is not forgetting what is being said.

Trouble has broken out in a new spot in Philadelphia. Empire Johnson has threatened to whip President Fogel of the Phillies on sight because of the protest Horace sent the league head on Johnson's ability.

The Philadelphia scribes make the accusation that every effort is being made to have the Giants win the National league pennant. None of McGraw's players are punished for anything they say to the umpires, while all the other teams in the league suffer for little remarks.

Mugsy McGraw carries a little book around with him in which he has the figures on all the remaining games in the schedule.

It will be a great injustice to George Stovall if he is deposed as manager of the Naps next year in favor of Harry Davis. Stovall has made the Naps a winning combination, while Davis is still an unknown quantity as a leader.

LADIES CORDIALLY INVITED TO THE GREAT CONTEST

They Will Not Be Admitted Free to Elks-Knights of Columbus Game, But Will Be Welcome Just the Same.

The ladies of Albuquerque will in all probability be out in numbers Sunday afternoon the day for the great baseball battle between the Knights of Columbus and Elks. Poor young men will be sent through the grandstand from time to time on exhibition tours, telling the ladies the score, the inning, what team is at bat and who the nice-looking man on first base is. Signor Ernesto Landgraf of the Banco Popular Nacional, leader of the Greater Albuquerque brass band, will have the organization out in its entirety Sunday afternoon to render pleasing selections from time to time during the game. The game will be at 3 o'clock sharp.

A squad of mounted police, forty deputies, five physicians and three ambulances will be drawn up on the side lines to see that no hostilities occur in the direction of the umpire and to render first aid if the injured in the event such a happening is

GOVERNMENT MAY BE PAWNSHOP FOR ENTIRE NATION

Fight Against Pernicious Money Lenders May Be Brought to a Close by Department of Labor.

Washington, Sept. 15.—Shall Uncle Sam turn pawnbroker? Shall it become "uncle" in truth to any of us millions of million citizens who care to "soak" with him any of their personal belongings, from bedclothes to diamond stars, at reasonable rates of interest?

Shall it follow the example set by France, Germany, Holland and other European nations and make it possible for the temporarily embarrassed to obtain goods on personal belongings without paying from 36 to 100 per cent interest on the loan?

Consular Reports Praise It.

The question will be called up for consideration shortly through publication by the department of commerce and labor of a series of consumer reports on pawnbroking in foreign countries. Needy citizens can obtain small sums on short notice, avoiding the exorbitant rates of interest charged by the private pawnbrokers and keeping free from the greedy clutch of the professional money lender.

Where the plan has been tried longest, its success has been most marked. The citizen is furnished with what money he needs up to a reasonable amount on personal collateral. The average rate of interest charged is less than 12 per cent per annum. Moreover, with the possible exception of France, where the government exercises a complete monopoly of the pawnbroking business, the national and municipal institutions have successfully combated strong competition from private concerns that have been permitted to charge much higher rates of interest.

The announcement was made at Cambridge that W. M. Maud and R. P. Lewis, two veteran players, will be ineligible because they failed to reach the required standing in their examinations permitting them to remain in college.

Vale's Gridiron Prospects.

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 14.—Yale has begun the construction of new football gridirons on the large tract of land on Derby avenue, opposite the present Yale field, recently purchased for a stadium. One may be used this fall for part of the practice of the football squad, the regular Yale field gridiron being reserved for the late practice and scheduled games.

Edward Thompson, graduate manager, said that the field would be ready to receive the squad when it reports. Captain Howe has sent out orders for the players to appear on September 14. About 30 will report for two weeks' drill before the first game, which will be played on Wednesday, September 27, the day before the opening of college.

Connie Mack's Gridiron Prospects.

The policy of advancing only a small percentage of the actual worth of the collateral offered is followed in most European public pawnshops, the fact that they received only a small part of what the collateral was really worth furnishing the owners with further incentive to redeem the pledges.

Such the same policy as outlined in the Dutch and French institutions is followed in Germany, Rumania, Italy and Russia.

PIGSKIN CHASERS WILL SOON BE IN THICK OF GAME

Hard Schedules for All the Big Gridiron Elevens: Banner Season is Predicted By Experts.

New York, Sept. 14.—Not since the days when the radical changes were made in the football playing rules have the prospects for a season on the gridiron been so generally bright as those foreshadowed by the first signs of activity in preparing for the approaching campaign with the nation's schools.

Men whose fingers are on the pulse of this branch of athletics do not hesitate to state that the season of 1911 should prove a banner one in the annals of the history.

Such announcement is more than a mere conjecture. It is based on something substantial. Practically all of the universities, colleges and preparatory schools throughout the country have some time since announced their schedules, and in most every instance these have been made harder than they have been in some seasons.

One of the big features will be the meeting of Harvard and Princeton on November 1. These rivals, just 14 years apart, will be the first to meet again.

The outcome seems nombrer than the reason for it, says the Springfield (Mass.) Republican. We can no more believe that the college student who earns his education by working as a waiter or steward becomes a hardened tip-taker than that the same fate overtakes an English schoolboy from being tipped as grown-ups. College work ended, the student waiter becomes a lawyer, engineer, engineer, or what not, and the tip-taking is dropped along with the excuse for it, declares the Republican.
